Iowa e-Learning Central Update

Barbara Ohlund, Executive Officer, Division of Learning and Results, provided an update regarding Iowa e-Learning Central.

The Department was awarded a federal Education Stabilization Fund – Rethink K-12 Education Models Grant, authorized under the Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security Act in 2020. Iowa e-Learning Central addresses two statewide needs. The first, brought to light by the COVID-19 pandemic: the need for accessible, evidence-based supports and resources not only for students to be successful in their studies (whether in-person or online), but for educators and families to support students in their learning. The second identified need is access to high quality content, regardless of a student's location in the state.

Ohlund presented a PowerPoint which explained the Iowa e-Central Learning program.

There was discussion regarding tracking course downloads, costs involved, course exchange agreements, offer and teach, expanding resources, annual review process, professional development support, number of courses, number of students reached, district savings, review of course schedule, federal reporting required, computer science, and alignment with Iowa standards.

Early Childhood Overview

Kimberly Villotti, Chief, Bureau of Early Childhood, provided a broad overview regarding early childhood programming and services throughout the Department and a brief overview of some current work efforts of the Bureau.

Villotti presented a PowerPoint which explained Iowa's early childhood programs.

Social Emotional Behavioral Health Services and Supports Update

Barbara Anderson, Administrative Consultant, Bureau of Learner Strategies and Supports, provided an update around Social Emotional Behavioral Health (SEBH) supports for schools. Anderson shared information on SEBH within a multi-tiered system of supports (MTSS) and an overview of specific supports and services including therapeutic classrooms.

A PowerPoint was presented which provided information regarding programs supporting SEBH in Iowa schools.

There was discussion regarding the components of therapeutic classrooms and professional learning grants.

Board Reports

Rod Bradley provided information regarding the preschool situation in Denison.

Cassandra Halls shared information regarding the September 14 Community College Council (CCC) meeting. The CCC focused on noncredit career and technical education, employment outcomes and understanding data collection. Iowa is leading the way nationally in data collection and reporting analysis. Halls encouraged Board members to visit iowastudentoutcomes.com to see how Iowa schools are performing and to use the site as a resource as the Board develops a strategic plan and strategic goals.

The CCC also received an introduction to the work done by the Iowa Consortium for Higher Education in prisons. Halls recently met with the Spencer Chamber of Commerce which has created a new position to connect businesses with high school students for internship placements.

Brian Kane discussed an open house for the Dubuque's Holy Family Resurrection Elementary School and explained that Holy Spirit Parish will soon be opening a new early childhood center. There is another early childhood facility under way at St. Joseph the Worker, which is also in Dubuque.

Alaina Whittington provided an update regarding a recent National Association of State Boards of Education (NASBE) meeting where student action plans were discussed.

Cindy Dietz talked about the incredible work of the Bureau of Community Colleges and Workforce Preparation around the Gap Tuition Assistance Program and non-credit job training for high demand jobs.

Mike May shared information from his conversations with family at Buena Vista University and Spencer Community School District regarding getting students involved in education and therapeutic classrooms.

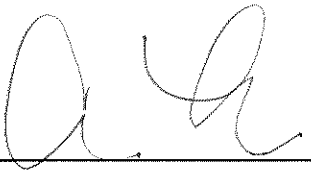

Brooke Axiotis mentioned that her son started Kindergarten and is doing very well.

John Robbins shared that he was impressed by the data presented at the September CCC meeting and that he recently attended the Iowa Valley Community College Board meeting. Robbins is currently serving as an interim, part-time superintendent and had the opportunity to visit a therapeutic classroom.

It was moved by Rod Bradley and seconded by Brooke Axiotis to adjourn. The motion carried unanimously.

The meeting adjourned at 12:37 p.m.
